

SAS secures strategic long-term corporate agreement with Equinor

SAS has signed a new three-year corporate agreement with its largest private-sector customer, Equinor. The agreement, commencing 1 February 2027, marks a significant expansion of the collaboration, featuring increased route commitments and dedicated capacity across key domestic and international routes.

The new agreement broadens the long-standing collaboration by expanding dedicated capacity and flight schedules tailored directly to Equinor's corporate travel requirements. The agreement covers key domestic and international routes, including core connections between Oslo, Stavanger, Bergen, Trondheim, Tromsø, Evenes and Haugesund, as well as routes included in the Singapore Airlines and SAS Joint Venture to support Equinor's global travel program.

"Equinor is our largest private-sector corporate customer, and this agreement underscores their continued trust in our services. The route between Stavanger and Bergen serves as a critical lifeline for Norway's energy sector, and we are proud to remain Equinor's largest airline supplier both domestically and internationally", says Anko van der Werff, President & CEO of SAS.

This key corporate win follows several major commercial successes for SAS in the corporate and public sectors. As an example, SAS recently secured a major Norwegian government agreement with DFØ (Direktoratet for forvaltning og økonomistyring) across high-volume domestic and European routes. Together, these wins demonstrate strong commercial momentum and continued trust in SAS' network and product offering.

SAS at ONS Stavanger: Lounge Presence and Executive Panel with CEO Anko van der Werff

During ONS in Stavanger, SAS will maintain an active presence throughout the conference week: SAS has set up a dedicated airport lounge in Hall 4 at the venue, serving as a gathering point for meeting and networking activities. The lounge is open to EuroBonus members, with non-members able to register at the entrance for immediate access.

Additionally, SAS CEO Anko van der Werff will participate in an ONS panel debate titled Decarbonisation in hard to abate sectors on Wednesday, 26 August from 11:30 to 12:30 in Room 2 at Clarion Hotel Energy. Moderated by Prof. Lynn Loo, CEO of the Global Centre for Maritime Decarbonisation, the panel brings together leaders from A.P. Moller - Maersk, Thyssenkrupp Steel, and Hitachi Energy to discuss investment requirements, technology solutions, and regulatory frameworks needed to accelerate the energy transition in hard-to-abate industries.
